

Citation Network Topology

The intra-corpus citation network provides a structural view of how Active Inference research is organized, identifying influential hub papers, community structure, and patterns of citation isolation (Figure 1).

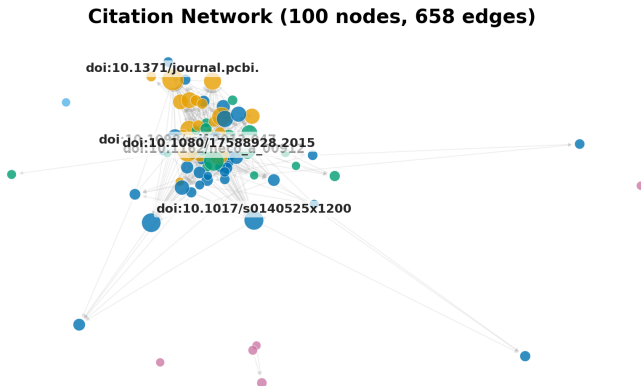

Figure 1: Intra-corpus citation network ($N = 849$ nodes, 1,678 edges). Node size reflects PageRank and HITS centrality scores.